What have you been doing since 1963? All is well here; I paint most days and still have work in galleries, but certainly have slowed down. I remarried 7 years ago to Craig Smith, so am moving up a little in the alphabet, but all these years as Cynthia L. Wilson, I did not change my name.

Comments: Greetings to my fellow SVHS grads. Today April 26 - happens to be the 33rd anniversary of my arrival in Prague. It's been a very different life - challenging, rewarding, exciting, but sometimes disappointing.

I have had a great wife - Lida to share it with for the last 25 years, and we hope to have many more. We're frequent travelers - there is still so much to see, from medieval architecture to mountain ranges similar to our southern Appalachians.

Although my health is pretty good, I do need to stay close to my doctors and nearly free medical care. As a result, I'm so sorry to say that I won't be able to attend our 60th anniversary events. I've really enjoyed seeing the photos from your recent parties - you all looked great.

What have you been doing since 1963? I've been working and enjoying life in New Orleans, New York City, New Orleans again and now in Baton Rouge.

In 2021, a 100 foot oak tree was blown over and destroyed 1/3 of my house and my car. I had to move out for a year while demolition and reconstruction took place and I am still unpacking and getting things back in order after moving back.

A 2022 trip to London on the Queen Mary 2 was a welcome diversion.
